UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT-IN ADMIRALTY.

An Alabama Claim Case-The Jurisdiction of Our Admiralty Courts Sustained.

Before Judge Blatchford. In the case of John N. Cushing et al. vs. John Laird the younger an amended motion to discharge the attachments against the claimants has been de olded by the Court. The hoellants were the owners of the American ship Sonora, which was destroyed of the American sinp Sonora, which was destroyed by the Confedérate cruiser Alabama, and having brought suit against Laird, the claimant, who fitted out the Alabama, to recover for the loss of the Sonora, they snoceded in attaching certain proporty in this port owned by him, to await the issue of the suit. A motion was made some time since to discharge the attachments, which motion baving been decided to be technically defective was renewed in an amended torm. The amended motion to discharge was based mainly on the claim that the Admiraity Court that had granted the attachments old not have jurisdiction over the claim that the Admiraity Court that had granted the attachments old not have jurisdiction over the claimant, who resides in and is a subject of Great Britant, and, consequently, could not attach his property, even if found in the district in which the Admiralty Court is located.

located.

Judge Blatchford says he has no doubt of the jurisdiction of the Admiralty Court in this case, but he holds that the question of jurisdiction is grave enough to be presented at a pleading, or at the trial, in a formal manner, as, when so presented, if decided adversely to the libellant, the libellant is secured the right of a review, which might be imperilled if the attachment were discharged on a mere motion. He deples the motion to discharge.

SUPERIOR COURT-CHAMBERS.

Interesting Hubens Corpus Case-Is the Special Sessions Court a Live Institution? Before Judge McCupn.

Two men, named respectively Francis Mutter and John Fitzpatrick, who were convicted in the Court of Special Sessions of a charge of assault and, battery, were brought before Judge McCunn yesterday on a writ of nabeus corpus.

Mr. Fiannagan moved for the discharge of Muller on the ground that when the trial and conviction of the prisoner took place the Court of Special Sessions was not in existence as a legally organized tribunal. He said the statute which created the Court of Special Sessions provided that the judges elected in the Second and Sixth districts should hold the Court of Special Sessions. This provision re-court of Special Sessions provided that the judges elected in the Second and Sixth districts should had the Court of Special Sessions. This provision related to the judges then presiding in these districts, and their judges under the act. Counsel also asked for the obscharge on the ground that the prisoners had demanded a jury trai.

Assistant District Attorney Blant opposed the motion on behalf of the people. He said that, under the decision of Judge McCunn in the infernan case, he had deemed it has faity, out of respect to the Court, to produce the prisoners. But notwithstanding, he contended that while the Oyer and Terminer was in session, the writ should have been made returnable incre. The wording of the Second and Sixth districts, no matter when or where elected, should obstricts, no matter when or where elected, should constitute the Court of Special Sessions until the repeal of the act. He contended, also, that in the question of the prisoner's election the record of conviction contaming the fact of his election to be tried by the Court of Special Sessions was coachieve upon a motion of this character.

Judge McCann said the District Attorney had select very properly in producing the prisoners in obedience to the order of this Court, attnough he outertained a different opinion as to its jurisdiction in such cases during the session of the eyer and Terminer. He (the Judge) had yet seen no good reason to change his opinion delivered in the Heigernan case, and until the laws athere announced was overtued by a ligher court he should adhere to it. Should it be overruled none would more promptly yield to a higher authority. He would give the question involved in this case a careful consideration, and requested the coursel to hand in their points. In the meantime he directed the prisoners to be remained to the cuty Prison tuttly the prisoners.

THE STEAMSHIP OCEAN QUEEN.

Pioneer of a New Line of American Steam ships to France Prussia and Denmark-Rifles and Ordnance Stores for the Prussian

More than ordinary interest was attached to the sailing of the steamship Ocean Queen, Captain Jones, vesterday afternoon, as she is the pioneer of Ruger Brothers' new live of American steamships to France, Prussia and Dennark. Efforts to establish a similar line, it will be remembered, were made at the close of the war; but the German war and the opposition of the English and German lines almost broke up the enterprise. The steamship Rising Star Jordows the Ocean Queen on the 22d inst., touching at liavre, and leaving Copenhagen on her return trip about the 22d of April. The company are expecting to be able to secure the steaming so that, with these four ships, the nucleus of a very substantial line of American transatiantic steamers will be formed. These ships will carry an average of 1,000 passengers each, and contracts have arready been entered into to fit these vessels for several voyages. The advantages this line offers to the Scandanavian emigrants, in cheapness of transit as well as avoiding the several transfers of persons and baggage, lends to make these vessels wery popular with them, and induces emigration to a considerable exteat. Reports from the agents of the line in Europe show that the number who intend to emigrate this season is much larger than any praylous year. a shuttar line, it will be remembered, were made at

THE BROADWAY BOND ROBBERY.

Trial of Jerome Bradley for the Alleged Larceny of One Hundred Thousand Dollars in Fivetwenties-Testimony of Witnesses-The Trial to be Resumed This Morning.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, Recorder Hackett presiding. Jerome Bradley, who was jointly indicted with Barton M. Johnson, was placed on trial charged with grand larceny. It was alleged that the defendants feroniously obtained over $100,000 worth of United States bonds and cerinficates of stock, which were abstracted from the office of Morrison, Son & Hutchinson, 327 Broadway, on the 2d of November, 1868. It will be remembered that about two months ago a protracted investiga tion of this case was conducted before Justice Hogan at the Tombs, a full report of which appeared in the BERALD at the time.

Assistant District Attorney Fellows conducted the prosecution. Mr. McCarthy defended Bradley, who claimed a separate trial. The other accused party will probably be used as a witness for the people

TESTIMONY FOR THE PROSECUTION—THOMAS A. MOR-RISON ON THE STAND.

The first witness called was Thomas A. Morrison, who keeps a dry goods establishment at 327 Broadway. The market value of the United States bonds and certificates of stock contained in a box which was in his possession on the 2d of November, 1868, was about $150,000. The box was kept at the New York Safe Deposit Company's for quite a number of years, and on the 2d of November it was taken to York Safe Deposit Company's for quite a number of years, and on the 2d of November it was taken to their store for the purpose of seeing if the securities in it agreed with the account taken of them in the book. Mr. Morrison and Mr. Hutchinson weat into a private office and checked off all the securities in the box, after which Mr. Morrison put them back and set down the box on the counter outside of the office door. He stepped back into the office for a moment, and then he noticed a man enter and ask to look at some shirts; the bookkeeper took him down to the counter nearly opposite the door where he entered and showed him two packages; he made some excuse that he would call again, and Mr. Morison noticed as he was leaving the door that the box was gone; the bookkeeper told him he did not know the name of the man, and stated that there were two men; no alarm was given that the box was gone, and a minute alter the men had left the bookkeeper ran down stairs after thein, but did not overtake them; Mr. Morrison could not recognize the prisoner as being one of the men; the stolen conds were in the custody of the firm of Morrison. Son A Hutchinson, and among the securities were $27,000 registered bonds—dwe five-twenties of $6,000 each and two of $1,000 each; the bond No. 873, letter B, was in the package and was registered in the name of W. J. Hoyt, Norwalk, Conn.

The witness was subjected to a severe cross-examination by the counsel for the prisoner, and admitted that he could not positively swear from memory that that dentical bond was in the box at the time it was stolen.

Carolan O'Brien Bryant was the next witness, and when the bond in question was shown to him stated that it appeared to be one that he had seen before, be received the long tron. If Hond each means Carolian O'Brien Bryant was the next witness, and when the bond in question was shown to him stated that it appeared to be one that he had seen before; he received the bond from J. H. Hand, or he meant rather to be understood as saying that Mr. J. R. Stearns, a broker, solicited a loan from him (Mr. Bryant), through the Park Bank for securities understood to be in the possession of Vermije & Co., on account of some parties for whom John H. Hand was attorney; Mr. Bryant advanced $15,000 on three bonds, of which the one now shown to him appeared to be one.

Philip Parley, a detective officer, testified that the bond $73 for found in the possession of Mr. Wilhiam H. Chesley on the 10th of last December in Mr. Cort's office in Pine street; Mr. Bryant gave me the information which led me to go to Mr. Chesley.

Gardiner S. Hutchinson, the partner of Mr. Morrison, corroborated his testimony and positively identified the two bonds in question, which he recorded in their book.

BARTON M. JOHNSON TURNS STATE EVIDENCE AND TESTIFIES.

The District Attorney moved that a noise prosequi be entered upon the indictment relative to Barton
M. Johnson, jointly charged with Bradiey.
The Recorder granted the motion.
Johnson was then called to the stand and, being sworn as a witness, testified as follows:—The bonos sta and $15. were shown to him—he said that from the 6th to the 10th of October, 1868, was given to him by Bradley for the purpose of obtaining a loan on them, which he procured from John W. Hand; he gave the money to a man named clark by direction of Bradley, who introduced him at the time the negotiation was effected.

Mr. McCarthy subjected Johnson to a rigid crossexamination, in the course of which it appeared that he received $300 commission for negotiating three bonds, which were alterwards redeemed upon learning that there was some irregularity respecting them, Mr. Bradley furnishing the money. The wilness received four bonds from Bradley in his office, and was paid the sum of $760 for his commission, Gasper-K. Herbert, who was counsel for Johnson, was called by the prosecuting officer. Comme for the prisoner objected to his competency by reason of the confidential relations that subsisted between Mr. Herbert and Johnson and Bradley. The Recorder was selected to act as the tryer, and decided that marameh as the relation between client and lawyer cld not exist between Bradley and Mr. Herbert he was a competent witness.

The Assistant District Attorney was proceeding to examine him at a late hour in the atternoon when the Court adjourned till this morning.

her profession, and wields a heavy influence to get out of a scrape. Her face has often been seen in the station house and at the Central office, where her teams sometimes are of avail. Lou says that the police won't let her be honest. The police say she wouldn't if she could. Not more than three months ago Lou was got "dead to rights."

On Wednesday she was working and walking on Broadway, accompanied by a coarse reatured trish girl. They followed, at hal-past three P. She was informed that it was not.
"Then we have made a mistake. We are strangers in the only," spoke up Lou as she and her pai moved out.

Here the gendeman of the Central office spoke up, "Not far Lou. Ladies, have any of you lost your pertemonnaie?" The ladies felt for their pockets and missed nothing. Lou stepped out of the stage, made anary grimmees at the official, walked off up Broadway, past detectives Casey and Quim, of the Broadway squad, and the stage proceeded across town.

Cantell's detence was that when be married Catherine she had another husband living and that it was buknown to him until recently. He said he had buknown to him until recently. He said he had been greatly deceived by her; that the nad had twins soon after they were married; that they died and he had pant the expenses of the funeral, behaving that he was the father of them. Evidence was given by Mr. John O'Connor, 19 Pearl street, where complannant boarded, who became acquainted with her in 1844. Catherine's husband emissed and she obtained 4400; through frata he gots further bounty of 2004, which she also obtained; her husband went into the mavy; while he was away she colmoned with Cautell, and they afterwards were married; about two weeks ago her former busband, named Gould, returned, and both men went to see Catherine together. A witness, named Charles H. Moore, 208 Fourth street, Wilhamsburg, gives an account of an interview be had with Gould and of his visit to Catherine, after about six rears' absence, about a month ago. His account of the meeting would have been rery anusing, but for the exposure of the immorabily of Catherine, who listened to the whole proceeding with a sunie of cumning and contempt for the poor fools sue had daped. FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, March 3-6 P. M. The fickleness of affairs in Wall street was aptly illustrated to-day in another sudden change in the speculative feeling. This morning the gold market promised to be steady and monotonous, for a time at least, under the abatement of speculative operations, while stocks gave indication of continuing strong if not buoyant. But a new element of dis-turpance was communicated by a modification of the Treasury regulations concerning the sales of government treasure, and GOLD DECLINED TO 114%.

The amendment referred to is a notice from the Assistant Treasurer that in future "the government reserves the right to accept more or less of bids for gold or offers of bonds than the amount advertised for," This change in the regulations set the specu lators completely at sea as to what might be the resuit in future dealings based upon the government programme. Of course no guarantee is now afforded that the government will sell only two millions this month, while, if the bids are unsatisfactory, no gold at all may be sold. The price at the opening was 115%, but it soon de-clined to 115. Here better quotations for five-twenties were reported from Europe, while from Washington came the official announcement of the Bureau of Statistics that during the first six months of the present fiscal year our imports have ex-ceeded our exports by less than $2,000,000. Now, as the figures upon which this report is based consider only the imports and exports of merchandise and specie, and as no account is taken of forty or fifty millions of our government bonds and railway securities shipped to Europe during the same pe-riod, it became evident to the Gold Room that gold could not for a good while at least be in demand for shipment abroad. Indeed, if we regard our bonds and rankway securities in the night of merchandiseand they serve that purpose for the present-the balance of trade is heavily in our favor, and gold ought to come this way from Europe before sixty days. This view of the situation is further confirmed by the condition of the sterling market, which has been extremely dull for several weeks and has steadily declined in rates until the bankers cannot sell bills except at figures which must compete with the quotations for the large supply of bills drawn against the shipments of cotton, produce and bonds. To-day the leading bankers reduced their rates for sixty days' bills to 108%, which was the nominal quotation, while good drawers were selling at 108%. Again the speculators and the public have bought heavily at 115 a 116, and the street, in the parlance of speculation, was "long" of gold, paying rates as high as five per cent for carrying, when government bonds, which are, of course, inferior to gold as a security, were being carried for three four per cent. It is the experience of Wall street that a unanimous "bull" market cannot maintain itself, because all holders desire to seil; hence the gold market was sensitively susceptible to a accline, and gave way under the depressing influences above recounted. In doing so it is repeating its history of a few days since, when gold was 120. Everybody then bought and loaded up because it was cheap. When the price baited at 115 everybody again went "long" of gold with a similar result. The operations of the Gold Exchange Bank were as follows:- Gold cleared, $51,708,000; gold balances, $1,429,829; currency balances, $1,677,884. The rate for carrying ranged from four to five per cent up to Clearing House time. In the afternoon it declined to three per cent, with exceptional transactions at "flat" for borrowing. The decline in gold was so sharp as to upset the calculations of the cliques who within the past few days have ranged themselves so harmontonsly on the bull" side of the stock market. At the opening of business prices were steady and for some of the list a trate higher than at the close last evening; but as the day progressed and gold softened the market became heavy and dull. This state of affairs con-tinued until after the boards and until late in the afternoon, when, with the "break" in gold, stocks declined about one to one and a half per cent. Curiously enough, the sellers were the smaller operators and the outside public, who came in with the "buli" movement of yesterday, and who were the although it is suspected to-night that some of the cliques have not kept faith with their brethren and took advantage of the chance to unload before the market gave way. The principal cliques, however, are on the "bull" side, for they dared not unload in loose from gold" have not been so successful. Had the latter remained steady their policy would no doubt have been the more sagacious one; for with money so easy and abundant the natural drift of the stock market would be to higher prices. Their calculations have taken little or no account of the effect of weak gold, or have regarded the gold premium as touched bottom. The decline in the precious metal has proved too much for them, however, and the feeling on the street at the close this evening was anything but flattering to the chances of the side. Still it would be nightly dangerous to go "short" of stocks, for the reason that as the cliques possess the bulk of them a "bear" movement would enable them to "twist" the street.
